Keynote Proposal

"Beat the Voice, Win the Game – Crack the code on ultimate success"

Abstract

Inside each of us is a burning desire to elevate our game. But unfortunately, there is an often-undetected inner dialogue coded within us that holds dominion over our performance, our ability to act, and our very lives.

This highly entertaining and thought-provoking talk draws from a lifetime of rising above the "impossible" giving your audience a fresh perspective on the interior world of fear, risk and conquering the only thing that stands in the way of success. From my 12 months in solitary confinement facing a life sentence to my comeback story as a high-performing sales executive in Silicon Valley, I prove that there is something within each of us that is louder than fear.

"Kyle's life and his craft for storytelling puts you on the edge of your seat and challenges your view on what's possible. Inspiring, funny, and deeply insightful - It's impossible to walk away unchanged!" – Dan Alia, National Training Director, Stanley Black & Decker

Learning Objectives

- Gain my #1 life-changing insight on how to control the narrative inside your head.
- Learn 3 steps you can take daily to level the playing field on fear, doubt and insecurity (or self-sabotage)
- Walk away with 5 reasons why consistently taking risk is your competitive advantage
